

Search in PC Magazine GO Advanced SearchZIFF DAVIS MEDIA™THE INDEPENDENT
GUIDE TO TECHNOLOGY

▶ SUBSCRIBE to PC MAGAZINE

The latest technology, customized for you.

Monday, Janu

Already a Member? Sign in Not a member? Join Now.

HOME | MY ACCOU

▶ FIRST LOOKS

▶ REVIEWS

▶ DOWNLOADS

▶ NEWS & ANALYSIS

▶ SOLUTIONS

Hardware
Software
Internet
Mobile
Office
Utilities
User To User
Web Development

▶ TIPS

▶ OPINIONS

▶ INTERNET BUSINESS

▶ PC LABS

▶ PERSONAL TECHNOLOGY

▶ SPECIAL REPORTS

▶ EXTREME TECH™

▶ DISCUSSIONS

▶ TECH SHOP

▶ CAREER CENTER

PRODUCT GUIDES

- ❑ Desktops
- ❑ Digital Cameras
- ❑ Displays
- ❑ DVD Creation
- ❑ Handhelds
- ❑ Macintosh
- ❑ MP3 Players
- ❑ Notebooks
- ❑ Printers
- ❑ UPSs
- ❑ Wireless Networking
- ❑ Windows XP

view all Guides >>

Get PC Magazine
at up to 77% off

Home > Solutions > User To User > Highlight the Current Row

TOOLS & TIPS FOR THE INTERNET AGE

February 1, 2003

Highlight the Current Row

By Helen Bradley

Download Now: Highlights.xlsHow can I make Excel highlight the entire row containing the cell I click on, so I can always clearly see which is the current row?

Dave Mathews

There's no such feature built into Excel, but you can achieve the desired result using a macro. Two Microsoft Knowledge Base articles on the topic, Q172515 and Q213193, for Excel 97 and 2000, respectively, give the procedure to follow and the code for making the active row bold. The instructions in either article work with Excel 2002.

You'll need to create the macro for each sheet you wish to use it with. Be aware that because the macro uses the SelectionChange event, some features will be disabled on your sheet—Copy, for example. Also note that closing the file does not remove the highlighting. You can overcome this by clicking on the bolded row when you reopen the file.

You can adapt the macro to highlight the current column or both the row and the column. You can also modify the macro to use italics in place of bold. Do this if your worksheet includes any bold formatting that will be undone by the macro.

We've provided a sample file that contains the code and instructions for using the macro. Download Highlights.xls by following the link at the top of this page.

- Print
- Email
- Save

John C. Dvorak
2003 Wish List
I want a PC that could make Apple blush and more.
Plus: Microsoft and Linux

THE TOP 100 WEB SITES

Browse for the best in Computing, Shopping, News and more!

COMMUNITY

Recent Discussions

- jdbgmgr.exe
- favorite wont delete
- ThingVentory printing
- Win 95 unstable with more than 64MB RAM
- Deleting Folders in Outlook Express

Start a Discussion

Find a Topic:

 GO
view all Discussions>>

COVER STORY

2.1.2003
The Complete Guide to Broadband
.....

1.1.2003
Best Products of 2002

ADVER

S
MF
HARI
UPCwith the pu
new Dell™
Offer
Click foEasy as
.....